

"These barracks keep me contained from the rest of the world, is that a good or bad thing?"

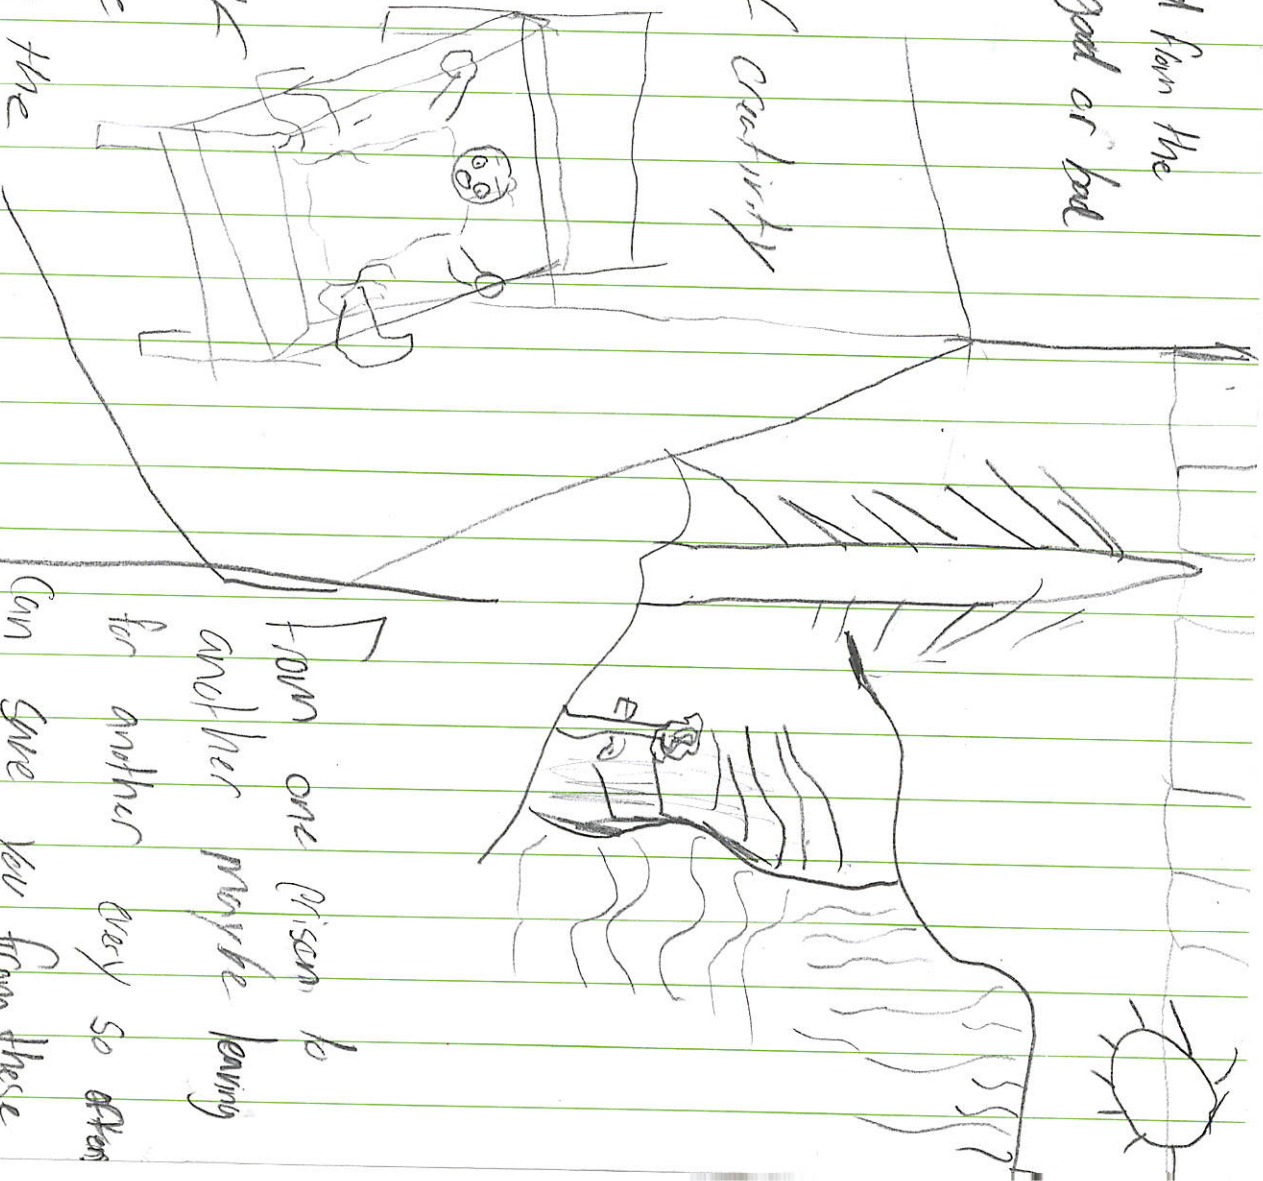

Dream of escape

The desire to find joy of creativity
The transformation from mind into representation.

So hard and time consuming maybe

I should keep it to myself and not communicate these strange dreams. Felling from the comfort of your bed into a addle of a whiplash seeking you into a land where your mind can free and life materializes before your own imagination

From one prison to another maybe leaving for another way so often can save you from these unfortunate feelings of sadness and lack of motivation to accomplish what you want.

Hi Aaron, we sincerely wanted to tell you that you can go ahead and fuck off. You're someone clear shorts that you have no experience in quantum mechanical engineering or other actual skills that would be useful for our company. - Your's truly, Big Moneyp Co.

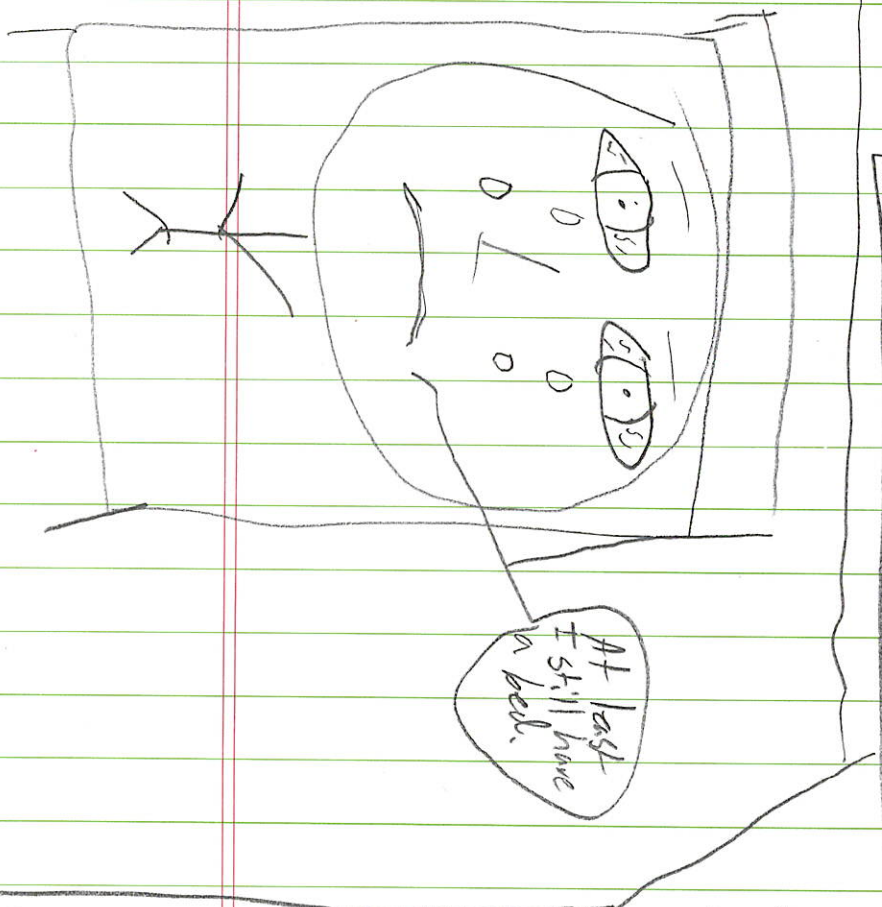

Aaron's resume

- Army
- 1 year of college
- no practical experience

10 years in the future, Alaska

At last I still have a bed.

Hello strange trailer, I'm Aaron, I'm originally from California. I've given up on modern living to be closer to nature living self sustainably. It's too bad your not real, I only get imaginary wishes these days any ways. I might hear from Father in 5 weeks we talk about conspiracy theories.